

New Marauder- Performance Fishing Boat

Cobra Kayaks Press Release

After more than a year and a half in development, with continual feedback from the kayak fishing community, Cobra Kayaks are proud to present the 'new Marauder'.

Historically, the Marauder has been one of Cobra Kayaks most popular performance fishing kayaks. At 4.3 metres long and 780 mm (31") wide, and 24 kgs (52 lbs) and with more than 200kgs (470 lbs) capacity the Marauder has been one of Cobra's best selling kayaks, with an ideal combination of length and beam for good hull speed, and good stability. The hull shape remains the same with features such as ample rocker, giving the Marauder nice manoeuvrability, and with the sweeping bow shape, the boat is dry and seaworthy in even the roughest conditions.

Cobra has taken the Marauder's best features and with feedback from 'fishos' from around the world, has made some major changes to the deck configuration- creating the ideal performance fishing kayak.

A new sealed centre hatch, complete with a bung so that it can be used as a live well.

The Marauder is now fitted with an optional rudder system for better performance on long distance paddles - giving the new Marauder even better manoeuvrability.

A transducer mount has been incorporated in one of the scuppers, for ease in installing

The deck has been reconfigured with a new sealed centre hatch, complete with a bung so that it can be used as a live well if desired. But, soft baiters will love this feature for its mega-convenient storage, and they can feel in large seas (as the storage is sealed from the interior of the boat) that there is no chance of flooding the boat if water comes aboard. The new storage area measures approximately 210 x 470 x 170 (deep) mm.

Cobra has created a unique hatch cover - with simple and easy to secure bungee loop tie downs, to secure the cover on the well. A plastic bait board lies over the cover, with a convenient recess for storing a fishing knife or icky tool.

Aft of the well, there is ample room for a small rectangular hatch or a 10" round hatch, to maximize storage in the cockpit area. The bow area can take the Cobra 'A' hatch to maximize storage.

The foot wells are wider than on the old

Marauder - with more than 50 mm extra clearance on each side. Fishermen with large feet or booties can now comfortably fit in the wider foot wells. The OZO rudder controls are easy to adjust and fit in special recesses within the foot well.

The Marauder can take 4 flush mount rod holders, 2 aft of the seat and 2 forward of the knees. Cobra is also installing the rail blazer rod mount as a standard feature on the Marauder Fishing package.

"We feel that we have refined the Marauder so that we now have one of the best performing, best set up fishing kayaks on the water today," said Ted Dixon, Sales and Marketing Director.
